

When perspiration doesn't work, try inspiration!

- ★ No matter how hard you try to convince students they can succeed in school and in their upcoming careers...
- ★ No matter how often you steer them to the OOH and DOT, they can't decide which job or career to pursue...
- ★ No matter how discouraged a student or job seeker may be...
- ★ There are just some students and job seekers you can't reach with logic and reason...
- ★ They think their dream jobs are unattainable...
- ★ They want real-life proof that people who have had it just as tough or even harder do succeed.

That proof is in the compelling new book Dream It Do It: Inspiring Stories of Dreams Come True where riveting real-life accounts of ordinary people achieving extraordinary dreams show readers how to succeed no matter how hopeless it may seem.

"Dream It Do It offers the reader a clear recipe for success through "Dream CPR." But what truly makes this book a veritable goldmine is the incredible collection of true-life success stories." — Brent Eskew, Founder and President, FindYourSpot.com

Nobody on her reservation could explain to her what a "college" was — because no Native American in California had ever left the reservation to attend college. Despite discouragement from all quarters and a high school that demoted her from valedictorian solely because she was Native American, that "smart little Indian girl" had the courage to do the impossible and registered at UC Riverside in 1954. Today Marigold Linton is capping off an illustrious career in cognitive psychology as a top administrator at the University of Kansas. "They" said she would never make it.

In Dream It Do It, real-life accounts like Marigold's illustrate the ten characteristics that authors Graciela Sholander and Sharon Cook found to be common among the hundreds of successful people — both regular folk and famous folk — they studied.

- ★ Solid advice on how to revive their dreams and find their true passions to choose a career — and life — they'll love.
- ★ Presents their research findings in a totally nonacademic manner with genuinely inspiring real-life accounts that get through to even the most jaded or discouraged student and job seeker.

Book Synopsis

They all had a dream:

- * Carpenter turned box office champion Harrison Ford
- * First woman space shuttle commander Eileen Collins
- * Athlete of the Year Lance Armstrong
- * Poet Maya Angelou
- * Groundbreaking news hound Barbara Walters
- * Singer Gloria Estefan
- * Golfer Tiger Woods
- * Cellist Yo-Yo Ma
- * First couple Jimmy and Rosalynn Carter

Telling their real-life stories and those of dozens of “ordinary” people, Dream It Do It identifies 10 essential characteristics common to the hundreds of dream achievers the authors studied: confidence, courage, commitment, creativity, purpose, passion, persistence, resilience, risk, and responsibility. By incorporating these qualities into their lives, readers can pinpoint their current dreams, revive their forgotten or long-deferred dreams, and actually achieve them.

Dream It Do It offers hope to every college student, teenager, baby boomer, and anyone with a mid-life or quarter-life crisis, looking for direction or purpose in life or career. Be inspired by the true stories of the famous plus the not-so-famous like:

- * Collegian Cale Kinney who lost a leg, hip, and half a pelvis freshman year — whose confidence led her to become a championship skier and fulfill her dream of becoming a successful writer
- * George Fullerton who risked it all to join Leo Fender’s fledgling shop and co-invent the revolutionary Fender Stratocaster electric guitar
- * Barbara Vogel whose commitment led her fourth and fifth-grade public school pupils to free thousands of slaves in The Sudan
- * Car kidnaping survivor Janette Fennell whose persistence paid off with a federal rule requiring an inside trunk-release hatch on all cars
